Foreword

I am proud to present the Northern Territory Police, Fire and Emergency Services Ten Year Strategy (the Strategy), which formalises our commitment to our people and our community, who are at the heart of everything we do. We are blessed with a wonderfully rich and diverse back yard and it is a privilege to be of service.

Our People and Our Community are of the utmost importance, and for this reason they have been identified as our key strategic priorities. They will remain front and centre as we deliver on our mission: To Serve and Protect, and strive toward our vision: A Safe and Resilient Northern Territory.

The partnership between our people and our community is embedded throughout the Strategy alongside recurring themes of prevention, preparedness, response and continuous improvement. Each one of our people is valued and their contributions will be vital to achieving success for the Northern Territory Police Force, Northern Territory Fire and Rescue Service, and Northern Territory Emergency Service. The work that our public sector employees and volunteers do, to support the tri-service is equally valued.

Similarly, the role that our community play in partnering with Northern Territory Police, Fire and Emergency Services to find solutions and achieve outcomes is essential in influencing and realising positive social change.

Over the next decade we will focus on our core functions first and foremost; and take all reasonable steps to meet and then exceed the expectations of our stakeholders, including the broader Northern Territory community, every single day. We will work towards achieving meaningful, long-term outcomes and it is hoped that the benefits of our work will continue to be realised by future generations. This Strategy sets our purpose and direction as we challenge ourselves to secure the best possible future for our agency and our community. I look forward to achieving our goals together, and I invite all Territorians to join us on this journey.

Jamie Chalker APM
Commissioner of Police and
CEO of Fire and Emergency Services
